

Leadership Culture 101

Culture can be defined by:

What is most important to you?

What is most important to your organization?

Do the people who follow your leadership understand what is most important?

What do you consistently do to support the values and the narrative of the organization? What is the behavior that fits?